Since 2001, Canadian internet entrepreneur Jay Kubassek has advanced from working on a farm to selling mufflers at a Kansas City Midas shop, to ultimately revolutionizing Internet entrepreneurship with his various education and empowerment programs for today's entrepreneur.

His current passion project, Digital Experts Academy is a community of scholastic Titans dedicated to assisting and supporting a workforce transitioning from yesterday's traditional economy into tomorrow's digital super economy. By learning and acquiring the online marketing skills required to become financially self-sufficient- DEA's students are enabled to push beyond the barriers of city, state, region, and even continent.

DEA's team of experts is comprised of highly successful digital marketers and entrepreneurs who have already successfully staked their claim online. Having endured the tricky and continuous evolution of the internet thus far, DEA's seasoned veterans are armored with years and years of highly successful digital lifestyle experience, ensuring that the Academy's educational content and training remain relevant, cutting edge, and up-to-date.

Jay is also an author, professional speaker, trainer, extreme sports enthusiast, film producer, and philanthropist. He regularly speaks to audiences of over 1000 people and is currently authoring a book about how to locate and unleash your own inner-entrepreneur in the Digital Age.

Over the last few years he has produced three feature films, including a documentary with Spike Lee that premiered at festivals such as Cannes and Tribeca.

He has also provided funding to many philanthropic organizations, including The Gentlemen's Fund, ONE, The Name Campaign in Africa, The Children's Institute for Autism, and The National Breast Cancer Foundation.

Jay is based in New York city.

Specialties: Internet marketing, professional speaker, film producer, father, husband, and scotch connoisseur

Sophie was a broker that we used when looking for a town house here in NY. Sophie is such a professional, super sweet, and really got what we were looking for. I would highly recommend her to anyone that is looking for someone that takes a keen interest in what you are truly looking for and needing, and goes all out in finding it for you.
